Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 10, 1887.

THE PUBLIC RECEPTION TO MR. RANDALL

The people are invited to the reception to Mr. Randall at the governor's mansion tonight. No invitations will be issued, and Governor and Mrs. Gordon will be glad to welcome the whole people in paying honor to Georgia's distinguished guest.

If the visitors to Atlanta see anything they want they should ask for it.

AS TO "FREE WHISKY."

In the so-called tariff discussion which some of our Georgia exchanges have been recently engaged, we have seen but one argument against the repeal of the internal revenue taxes, and that is an argument only by courtesy. When THE CONSTITUTION, following the example of a number of Georgia legislatures during the last ten years, advises the repeal of this infamous system, not only on account of the relief that it will give the people, but because it will pay the way to a reasonable and just revision of the tariff, there is immediately a cry of "free whisky."

Just what this argument of "free whisky" means we do not understand, but it is to be presumed that it is in some sort an appeal to the temperance element of the country. And, our esteemed contemporaries ought to understand that the temperance people are not so befuddled that they fail to understand the situation in all its bearings. The Voice, of New York, the recognized organ of the prohibitionists and temperance people of this country, has this to say of the whisky tax, and we have no doubt it represents the sentiments of every temperance man:

"The tax has acted mostly as every high-taxed bill has operated—to injure the liquor traffic on a more substantial basis and intrude it more strongly in the nation. It has made the illegal business appear as one of the pillars of the country, when it is nothing more than a pestilential living upon the fruits of other's industry. It has been a safeguard within which a monopoly has been built up of the entire distilling and retailing of distilled liquors.

There is a huge surplus, as we all know, variously estimated on one or the other side of $100,000,000, in our nation's revenue. That surplus is already playing havoc in financial circles by withdrawing such vast amounts of currency from circulation, and is a perpetual temptation to our nation's law-makers to increase the amount appropriate for political and partisan purposes. The tax may prove for removing this needless burden of taxation and this corruption fund is by outlawing nationally the entire liquor traffic and stamping it out. That will come a few years later."

It will thus be seen that the argument (so-called) of "free whisky" doesn't amount to much. In view of this fact, will our argumentative contemporaries deem it presumptuous on our part if we ask them to give one serious and solid argument in favor of the retention of the infamous excise system.

A CORRESPONDENT wants to know if the national league of Ireland is a baseball league. This sort of thing is very tiresome.

THE COTTON MOVEMENT.

The New York Financial Chronicle, in its weekly review of the cotton movement, says that for the week ending last Friday evening, the total receipts have reached 251,186 bales, against 238,745 bales last week, 187,740 bales the previous week and 126,041 bales three weeks since, making the total receipts since the 1st of September, 1887, 905,662 bales, against 580,491 bales for the same period of 1886, showing an increase since September 1, 1887, of 319,471 bales.

The exports for the week reach a total of 170,439 bales, of which 103,530 were to Great Britain, 14,152 to France and 52,757 to the rest of the continent. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 542,690 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 2,221 bales, including 63 for export and 2,158 for consumption. Of the above, 113 bales were to arrive.

The imports into continental ports have been 12,000 bales.

These figures indicate an increase in the cotton in sight tonight of 307,025 bales, as compared with the same date of 1886, an increase of 414,146 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1885 and an increase of 148,103 bales as compared with 1884.

The old interior stocks have increased during the week 29,564 bales, and are toning off 355,500 bales more than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 25,080 bales more than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 167,195 bales more than the same time in 1886.

The exports from the plantations since September 1, 1887, are 1,030,131 bales; in 1886 were 650,000 bales; in 1885 were 701,170 bales, although the receipts at the exports the past week were 251,186 bales, the actual movement from plantations was 260,224 bales, the balance going to increase the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 226,067 bales and for 1885 they were 210,010 bales.

The increase in the amount in sight Friday night, as compared with last year, is 402,932 bales, the increase as compared with 1886 is 251,518 bales, and the increase over 1884 is 382,350 bales.

The weather reports of the Chronicle indicate that the weather has been dry and exceedingly favorable to crop gathering during the week. Marketing is also making rapid progress.

The Chronicle says that the speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market has shown much strength throughout most of the week under review, the chief exception being a decline of a few points on Saturday last. In the course of Monday to Thursday, inclusive, there was a slight but steady advance, on the belief that the "rush" of new cotton to market is about to cease (at least in comparison with former years) and that prices were on a safe basis for operation for the rise.

Reduced crop estimates from Texas and adverse crop accounts from Memphis have been published in the daily papers, with the effect of stimulating the demand to cover contracts, and better reports from Liverpool on Wednesday and Thursday also favored the "bull" party. The business was largely for the winter months, and the close Thursday evening was 500 points above the previous Friday.

Friday the market was very unsettled, but made some further advance in the later dealings. Cotton on the spot met with only a limited demand for home consumption, and although stocks were still small, quotations were reduced 1-16c. on Monday. Today the market was dull and weak at 9-16c. for middling uplands.

The Chronicle has an interesting review of the cotton consumption and overland movement for September. As is well-known, the present crop began to move to the exports earlier and in larger volume than any preceding it, and naturally, therefore, the shipments by rail have also been quite free. In fact, the gross movement during the month greatly exceeds that for September in either of the two previous years, and is, moreover, heavier than for the opening month of any other season included in our record. The total for the month is 45,178 bales, an increase over 1886 of 23,056 bales, while the gain in comparison with 1885 reaches 10,872 bales. The heaviest movement in September of any year previous to the present one was in 1881, when the gross total reached 46,802 bales and the net 30,860 bales.

All the railroads, except those crossing the Mississippi at Hannibal, have benefited by the larger cotton movement. The Cincinnati Southern and the Louisville, Cincinnati and Lexington have, however, made the most important gains. In the net movement there is also a decided excess over preceding seasons, the total for September of this year being 30,402 bales, against 19,655 bales last year and 22,910 bales in 1885.

Never before has so much cotton reached the exports during the first month of the cotton season as during the present year. Compared with last year the increase is 25,073 bales (about 85 per cent), in which all the southern ports share, but, strange to say, Galveston to only a slight extent. This would seem to indicate that a greater portion than in former years of Texas cotton has gone direct to New Orleans. Foreign exports have been on a very liberal scale during the month, exceeding those for September a year ago by 27,284 bales, and recording a gain over the similar month of 1885 of 12,484 bales.

The amount of cotton marketed during September, 1887, is thus seen to be 318,400 bales more than in 1886, and 261,086 bales more than in 1885. Northern spinners had up to October 1 taken 147,216 bales, in which all the southern ports share, but, strange to say, Galveston to only a slight extent. This would seem to indicate that a greater portion than in former years of Texas cotton has gone direct to New Orleans. Foreign exports have been on a very liberal scale during the month, exceeding those for September a year ago by 27,284 bales, and recording a gain over the similar month of 1885 of 12,484 bales.

We are very glad to learn that the New York World is about to enter its William Nye for president. When every newspaper has its own private and personal candidate there will be harmony in both parties.

This matter is attracting more attention in the north and west than in the south, because in the two former sections there is a growing dread of social upheavals, communistic disorders, and outbreaks of the anarchoists. The south, however, should take an active hand in the business. In times of peace preparations for war should not be neglected, and if we are to have a militia it is our duty to make the most of it.

We are very glad to learn that the New York World is about to enter its William Nye for president. When every newspaper has its own private and personal candidate there will be harmony in both parties.

Cool Weather Ahead.

The snow in the northwest last Thursday leads the New York Herald's weather man to say that sharp frosts cannot long be delayed. Planters in the tobacco belt and in the northern part of the cotton belt may look out for frosts during the early part of the present week.

One thing may interfere with this calculation, and that is rain. A spell of wet weather more or less prolonged would of course delay the frost period. Still, the signs of the times indicate the early coming of cool weather. It is time for nature to array herself in the livery of autumn, and what is reasonable is always best.

As THE Sun is discussing Mr. Cleveland as a plagiarist, the next subject ought to be Brother Dana as a vagrant.

We do not believe that Benjamin Butler will be the next president of the United States.

The Young Men's Democratic League.

ATLANTA, Ga., October 10, 1867.—Nearly three years ago, when the league made grand demonstrations in honor of the election of President Cleveland, Hon. Samuel J. Randall was its honored guest. On that occasion he won the hearts. He recently communicated the admiration of distinguished and prominent citizens, whose character and standing were attested by the justice of the district.

He is again the city's guest—this time to open the Piedmont exposition.

This evening he will be tendered a public recection at the Kimball house, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. It is proposed that while there be serenaded by a delegation from the league. For this purpose, every young democrat who can possibly get away
from his business is requested to be present at the ca-

FOR COUNCILMAN.

At the solicitation of many of my friends I am now offering myself a candidate for councilman from the third ward at the ensuing municipal election.

Respectfully,

G. W. ADAIR,

Real Estate.

I am having a good demand for property now, and look for a lively fall trade. I have a choice list of property, a good conveyance and am always ready to go with customers; and take every pains to suit

them in homes and investments.

It is unnecessary to publish a long list of property

for sale, as there is only a few;

I have an elegant family residence on Houston street, near Peachtree street.

A splendid corner on Whitehall, near in $6,000.

Two or three little cottages near Air Line shop, on Randolph street. A good renting property.

A nice five room house, Rawson street, near Peachtree street.

Two houses close in, on Church street.

A splendid residence on Luckie street.

A cozy cottage on Wheat street, near Young Men's Christian association building. At a sacrifice.

A nice vacant lot on Simpson street, near railroad.

A nice lot corner Boulevard and Irvin street.

I have quite a large list of places on the Georgia railroad, in Edgewood, Kirkwood and Decatur.

I have a large list of property on and near Peachtree street.

I have any kind of property you want, and if you will come I will go out with you and show you around.

G. W. ADAIR,

SHEFFIELD, ALABAMA.

THE CITY OF SHEFFIELD IS Preparing its Exhibit at the PIEDMONT EXPOSITION.

As Rapidly as Possible. While it is Getting Ready it is Well Enough to REMEMBER:

1st. That of all the iron cities, Sheffield is the only one that is at the head of navigation of the Tennessee river, half mile wide, at the Sheffield bluff 150 feet high.

2d. That five iron furnaces more than in any other city are now actually being built in Sheffield. This is more than Birmingham had up to the present year.

3d. A railroad direct to Birmingham, the chief city of North Alabama, and one to Nashville, the chief city of Tennessee, are now actually being built. The Tennessee river connects Sheffield by water way with the Mississippi valley and the Northwest.

4th. Its railroad and river connections will make it inevitably the great shipping and distributing point between the iron and coal fields and the grain and food centers and manufacturing cities of the Northwest.

5th. It is in the center of the richest and best coal and iron fields in America.

6th. It is backed by the strongest syndicates now operating in the south.

Study these reasons over. Come to the Sheffield exhibit and talk about it, and you will be convinced that

SHEFFIELD IS THE COMING CITY OF THE GREAT IRON BELT.

Information Gladly Furnished at

SHEFFIELD EXHIBIT AT THE GROUNDS. ANNISTON, ALABAMA.

THE EXHIBIT PRESENTED BY THIS REPRESENTATIVE TOWN OF

THE NEW SOUTH WILL BE OF

Wonderful Interest to the

VISITORS AT THE
